Arshad - The Troublemaker?

Arshad and his tribe had lived in the middle of the desert for centuries, eking out a life in one of the most difficult places on earth. Although their lives were hard, Arshad belonged to a long line of godly men and women recognized for their sense of justice.

Before he was born, his mother had dedicated him to serve God all the days of his life. His mother's prayers were answered; from the time he was a young man he had had a tender heart for God. He had many dreams and visions; from these he learned that the Bible was more than a book just for Jews or Christians but that it was also binding upon Muslims as well.

As he researched the Qur'an for corroboration of his dreams he was amazed to discover that the Qur'an repeatedly mentions that it was given to confirm the previous scripture. In no place did it teach that the Bible had been corrupted or superseded by the Qur'an, as traditionally thought by Muslims.

Although Arshad had no access to a Bible, he started teaching his people that the Qur'an was given to confirm the previous scripture and so, if given the opportunity, they should study the Bible as well. However, years passed before Arshad ever saw a Bible. An old priest had heard about their family and came in search of them. He did not come empty handed. He brought them a priceless treasure: a Bible in a country where it was prohibited. The old priest risked his own life to pass on the word of God to this family.

Announcing an Exciting Merger!

We are excited to announce that nPraxis International is now adding Simple Church to our family of ministries. Simple Church is an organization that encourages and provides support for home-based churches for those who want to worship but not in a traditional church setting. This ministry has grown beyond the auspices of the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists and as of May 1, 2017 has officially partnered with nPraxis. With our combined resources, our house church network now serves people in 40 countries around the world.

Immediate Needs:

- Workers for Columbia, India, and Bangladesh
- $$ to support the new opportunities in Tribal Work

Tribal Work

nPraxis is now adding nPraxis Tribes to our growing network of ministries. We have been involved for 3 years with about 400 house churches in primitive tribes in Southeast Asia. We have recently learned of a significant number of unreached animist tribal groups that live in other remote areas. According to our research, within the Amazon Basin, which is about the size of the continental US, we believe there are close to 350 unreached remote tribes, not counting reports we have received from Asia, Africa, and the Arctic of other isolated tribes in several countries.

nPraxis wants to reach out to these groups. We have already been working with primitive tribal groups in Bangladesh, India and Africa and we plan to draw on our experience there to reach out to groups in other remote locations as quickly as opportunities arise. We now have an opportunity for a significant opening in Columbia, and we are seeking financial support to expand this ministry. Please consider designating a portion of your philanthropy to aid this significant new work.

Urgent Need: $$ for Bibles

1. We have an URGENT opportunity to send 20,000 Bibles to a closed country at a cost of $8 per Bible. We must fill this need within a very limited window of time.

2. Through another amazing one-time arrangement, we can provide 26,000 Bibles to a specific closed country at $3 per Bible.
